Detective William J. Burns will reveal the identity of the man he says murdered Mary Phagan, Atlanta, Ga., factory girl, to the Atlanta authorities on Monday, he declared before leaving for Atlanta today.

"Lee Frank will not die for the murder of the Phagan girl on April 17," said Burns. "There never was any mystery to the case after I satisfied myself that Frank was innocent. The tracks of the slayer are as plain as day. The man who killed her as being watched and there is no chance that he will escape."

TO PROBE 6-HOUR SCHOOL DAY

An investigation of the 6-hour school day will be made by a committee consisting of 11 teachers to determine the merit of the new plan.

The teachers will make the investigation at the invitation of Mrs. Ella Flagg Young who favors the 6-hour plan and wishes to find out if her views of it will be justified by an investigation.

The following letter was sent to the teachers who will serve on the committee:

"Will you serve on a committee to investigate work in the high schools under 6-hour-a-day conditions? The definite points to be considered are as follows: The feasibility of having the teachers' school day 8 hours long; the number of recitations, laboratory periods and study periods assigned to individual teachers; the amount of time given to clerical work, athletics, the library and social affairs by individual teachers; the additional cost of organizing the school on ideal lines and maintaining the present salary schedule."

DEPUTY SHERIFFS TO PROTECT THE WOMEN VOTERS

County Judge Owens yesterday appointed twelve special deputy sheriffs to protect the women voters from intimidation in the local option election in Forest Park next Tuesday, following reports that two women temperance workers had been threatened.

Mrs. Fred Wiemerslage, wife of a mail carrier, reported that an automobile load of men followed her when she made a house to house canvas in the interests of the drys and attempted to frighten her. Mrs. A. H. Gillespie, another temperance worker, is alleged to have been threatened with violence.
